WESTCHESTER, PUTNAM, DUTCHESS

Pound Ridge Organics, Pound Ridge, NY

Pound Ridge Organics sells heritage-breed turkeys, as well as the more familiar broad-breasted variety, from Heermance Farm in Tivoli. “This is the same farm that provides turkeys to Chef Daniel Boulud for his Michelin-starred kitchen at Restaurant Daniel in New York City,” says Pound Ridge owner Donna Simons.

The turkeys are organic, pastured and humanely raised, she says. “In addition to providing locally milled organic feed to the poultry, our farmers provide a proprietary blend of natural organic ingredients that enhance the flavor of the meat even more so. It’s the best poultry I have ever tasted.”

The farm market will be open November 20-24, selling Thanksgiving essentials such as produce, eggs, charcuterie, dairy products, apple cider, cranberry sauce, honey, candles, gift items and more. Pre-ordered turkeys will be available for pickup November 22 and 23.

The market always carries chicken, and it will likely have duck and goose for Thanksgiving too, Simons says. It also sells a variety of handmade organic desserts, including gluten-free alternatives such as apple crisps, ice cream and mousse.

“We send out order forms in our newsletter. You can subscribe at PoundRidgeOrganics.com,” she says. “Also, we will have a special Thanksgiving event to be announced in the coming weeks.”
